

Doing research differently: imagining better communities in local and global contexts

Tuesday, 20 June 2017, 10:00 – 16:30
My Place, St Ann's Road, Rotherham, S65 1PH

Outline Programme

10:00 – 10:20	Welcome and refreshments
10:20 – 10:30	An introduction to the day
10:30 – 11:30	A panel on community research and how knowledge is created Zanib Rasool (Rotherham-based community researcher and doctoral student and researcher at the University of Sheffield); Shabina Aslam (Bussing Out, Bradford, Heritage Consortium PhD researcher at the University of Huddersfield), Milton Brown (Kirklees Local TV, PhD researcher at the University of Huddersfield)
11:30 - 11:45	Refreshment break
11:45 - 12:45	Introducing Māori research in New Zealand/Aotearoa Nepia Mahuika (Senior Lecturer in History, University of Waikato); Ani Mikaere (a barrister and solicitor, Ani teaches Māori law and philosophy at Te Wānanga-o-Raukawa); Rangiemarie Mahuika (PhD student, University of Waikato)
12:.45 - 13:30	Lunch (provided)
13:30 - 14:30	“Invisible Indianapolis: A collaborative project to reveal the hidden histories of urban neighborhoods” Susan Hyatt (Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis)
14:30 - 15:00	The invisibility of community knowledge: the coproduction approaches to knowledge production Zanib Rasool/Mariam Shah (oral historian)
15:00-15:15	Refreshment break
15:15 - 16:00	Round table discussions - world café
16:00 – 16:30	Tea and summing up: plenary panel and discussion